AND HE SMILED — When Chief Photographer Lothar Konietzko asked students at Romulus' Merriman School to smile - if you like being back in school — Donald Frazier, 6, grinned with delight for the camera. The little chap then suggested: "Mr. Photographer. Come back in a few months and my two front teeth should be back."

Candidate says Don't knock trout --the fish, that is

By JIM CARAVALLAH

Don't knock the trout - the one with fins - says the Troutt who's running for office in Romulus.

Terry L. Troutt, candidate for mayor in the Nov. 6 general election, is upset about some ads appearing in local newspapers - the ones reading: "There's something fishy about Troutt."

"I'm not so upset about the ads as I am about the degradation of Michigan's fish," Troutt said with a smile. "After all, I'm the guy who got the trout named the state fish because the trout is among the most noble of swimming creatures."

"WHEN YOU consider the trout, there's nothing whatsoever wrong with being fishy." The word "fishy," according to The American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language, means: "cold or expressionless; unlikely, questionable; inspiring suspicion, dubious."

But, the definition is unfair, according to Troutt.

"Evidently, someone who doesn't know fish wrote that definition," the candidate said. "If you knew how many men the trout has outfoxed in fishing adventures, you'd know that the state's fish isn't something to be scorned."

"I WONDER HOW many people have caught a real trout, and how many have been made to look like fools by this intelligent, noble creature of the deep."

"I'd say the fools far outnumber the successful ones."

Troutt thought so much of the trout during his days in the State Senate that he championed a bill to get it named Michigan's fish. "We had a bird, a flower, and a rock, so. (Continued on Page A-3)

Function of sheriffs slowly being whittled

Another step has been taken to sap the manpower of the Wayne County Sheriff Road Patrol.

Some 60 high-priced security guards will be hired at Detroit Metropolitan Airport to handle duties formerly performed by 42 special deputies and federal air marshals, following an agreement between the Wayne County Road Commission and the Wayne County Sheriff.

Despite a warning by County Commissioner Richard E. Manning (D-19th District) that "the functions of the sheriff slowly are being whittled to the point where we will have a sheriff in name only" the commission approved the change.

THE SECURITY guards were proposed by the road commission after the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) ordered airports to make arrangements to replace federal air marshals at the airports by Nov. 1.

Guards will draw salaries ranging from $14,369 to $14,729 annually after one-year's training, while members of the road patrol draw salaries ranging between $9,621 and $13,141 annually.

Wayne County Board of Commissioner's Chairman Robert FitzPatrick said the board's approval set "a very dangerous precedent" which might lead to a "proliferation of quasi-police forces under other government agencies."

The Sheriff's Road Patrol union Local 502-M of the National Union of Police Officers contend that airport security requires full-time police officers; that the new security guards will cost (Continued on Page A-3)

Council must act Off-again, on-again vote on amendments is off

By JIM CARAVALLAH
Roman Staff Writer

Romulus' on-again off-again charter amendment vote may be off-again for good, unless the Romulus City Council acts tomorrow night.

The council failed to certify the wording for the seven charter changes recommended by the city's charter review commission last week.

The council may be pushing the deadline for both publishing the official wording for the ballot, and for providing absentee ballots to the voters with the wording, unless it acts tomorrow.

"UNLESS THEY approve the wording I'd recommend that the matter be tabled indefinitely," said City Clerk Leonard Folmar. "If they don't act, it would tax all our resources to get the absentee ballots out to voters from throughout the country, and possibly servicemen overseas, who are interested in voting in the city elections."

Folmar said some applications for ballots have come in from as far away as Army bases in Germany.

"We may be able to get the ballots to the voters there on time, but we also have to allow them enough time to get their ballots back, so we can count them election day," Folmar said.

"If there isn't sufficient time to mail the ballots two ways, I'm afraid we'd be disenfranchising a segment of our voters," he added.

"That's why I'd recommend against any action after tomorrow."

"AS IT STANDS now, I have everything ready, and can act at the council's discretion."

Although the charter changes—some of which would redefine the power of the council and the mayor and would lengthen the terms of the councilmen—were discussed at last week's meeting, no official action was taken by the council.

"The gist of the conversation by those in attendance was that the matter needed further discussion," Folmar said.

The city clerk's office needs enough time to publish the official wording of the ballot at least twice before the election, Folmar added.

ONE PUBLISHING would have to be at least 10 days before the Nov. 6 balloting for the election to be held.

Oct. 26 is the last day before the election the first notice can be published to make the election official, he said.

State cleans lake

The massive cleanup of Belleville Lake and its 20 miles of shoreline by community volunteers and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) nears completion.

The cleanup operation of the six-mile long lake of more than three quarters of a million pounds of fish actually began several hours after the DNR applied 5,000 gallons of fish poison to the lake Friday.

The DNR cleanup and fish restocking project of Wayne County's largest lake was undertaken to rid the lake of trash fish - primarily carp - which muddy the potentially clean lake bottom and make it uninhabitable for game fish.

RON SPITLER, DNR fisheries biologist in charge of Wayne County, said the cleanup of the dead fish may take a week or more, but the major part of the cleanup is expected to be completed today.

The cleanup program, one of DNR's largest fish kills in its history, will be followed by a gradual restocking operation that will add game fish such as trout, walleye and large mouth bass to the lake.

The two-square miles of surface area of the lake, which crosses six miles of Van Buren Township, is seen by the DNR as a major recreation area in Wayne County when the project is completed.

It will become a $1.5 million recreational bonus to surrounding communities, DNR officials said.

HUNDREDS OF Belleville High School students excused from classes by parents and school officials, along with many adults, began cleaning up the shoreline of the lake early Monday.

Using long poles, pitchforks and rakes, the volunteers under the direction of John Barber, manager of the Belleville branch of the Secretary of State and president of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, pulled and even hand-picked dead fish.

The dead fish were stocked in piles on the shore and later were hauled away to nearby land fills and dumps.

COULD THEY BE NEXT — Puppies and kittens are so loveable and a joyful addition to any family; yet two thousand unwanted dogs and cats die each month in Western Wayne County. Why? Simply because owners don't practice much pet birth control. — Romulus Roman photo.

Thousands of animals die because people don't care

By CAROL THOMAS
Roman Staff Writer

The corpses of puppies and kittens litter the roadside each day.

Local police departments ship hundred of stray animals to farms to be sold to researchers, or they destroy them.

And two thousand unwanted dogs and cats die each month in the euthanasia rooms at the Michigan Humane Society kindness center in Westland.

BUT THESE grisly statistics haven't caused people to practice much pet birth control, according to 10 veterinarians in Western Wayne County.

"We have had no great increase in the numbers of pets that we sterilize," several of the veterinarians agreed.

Some others said they are performing more neutering operations, "but there are more pets today too."

"People are willing to spend a lot of money on a pet now, several years ago paying out money for a dog or a cat was unheard-of," one veterinarian said.

BUT NATIONAL statistics show that while the human population in the United States has grown by 10 per cent, the pet population has increased at four times that rate.

"At the present rate, 60,000 dogs and cats must be killed each day in the United States to maintain a stable pet population," a doctor at the Michigan State University school of Veterinary Medicine calculated.

"It's getting so every day somebody will come in here with a litter of kittens or puppies and ask me to 'get rid of them,'" Inkster City spokesman said.

Dr. Robert G. Schirmer, director of the Small Animal Clinic at Michigan State University, said pet owners are responsible for the cruel and inhumane increase in pet population.

Local veterinarians, animal control officers and Humane Society workers agreed.

"People will spend money on the craziest things, and they'll put up with a dog in heat, or unwanted puppies or a male dog that chases around the neighborhood and irritates the neighbors or litter after litter of kittens-but they won't spend $25 to $30 on getting that pet neutered so that its easier to live with," a worker at the Human Society commented wryly.

MANY PARENTS who allow their pets to breed say they want their children to learn about the facts of life "Naturally" as they did while growing up on a farm or something, Schirmer said.

"Those parents who would like their children to witness the wonder of birth should take their children to visit the euthanasia room of their local animal shelter to witness the miracle of death as well," he added.

The rising pet population and especially the rising proportion of unwanted pets should make pet owners take heed and practice a little birth control for their pets.

"Human stupidity has caused this problem and it will take a drastic reversal of current thinking before anything can be done about the pet population," Schirmer said.

Van Buren ed board purchases property for building program

Two pieces of property at Beverly and Sheldon roads have been purchased by the board of education of the Van Buren Public School District for the school system's newly established building trades program.

The building trades program is part of the Van Buren Vocational Educational Department directed by William Nagy.

The board of education recently authorized the district's business manager to negotiate the purchase of the two parcels of land for the new program.

The lots purchased for $10,996.08 are adjacent to each other, one is 89 feet by 375 feet and the other is 100 feet by 375 feet.

Plans are in process to re-align the two lots into three lots to build three homes over a three-school-year period. The first home is to be under construction as soon as building permits are obtained.

R. Lynne Hamilton, school board secretary, who announced the purchase price, said that re-alignment of the lots into three lots would proportionate to a cost of $3,665.36 per lot.

"This cost is roughly $2,000 less per lot than other potential sites that are in the market," Hamilton said.

School personnel investigated more than 20 other parcels prior to closing this land selection Friday.

Ray Antonini is the instructor for the building trades program. There are 39 students enrolled to learn the construction processes to build the homes.

Inspector issuing 97 permits

The Van Buren Township Building Department issued 97 permits and collected $2,156 in building permits fees during September.

Chief building inspector Darryl Robson issued 33 permits for $322,047 in residential construction.

The electrical division of the building department issued 39 permits and collected $1,184 in fees.

The heating division issued five permits and collected $50 in fees. The plumbing division issued 47 permits and collected $859 in fees.

SIGNING THE AGREEMENT — Van Buren Public School District officials sign an agreement on the purchase of two lots at Beverly and Sheldon roads in the township which are to be divided into three lots and used by the school district's Vocational Education Department in the department's new Building Trades Program of home construction. FINDS LOST BOAT MODEL — Robert Storey, 32, of 35545 Clinton St., Wayne, whose one time hobby was building model boats, displays a model he built five years ago and found last Thursday in Belleville Lake. Storey took the model out to the lake for picture-taking purposes. The wash of a passing motorboat sunk the model boat a few yards off shore. Last week, Storey visited the area to view the draining operations of the lake last Thursday and found the boat lying in an exposed portion of the lake's bottom. — Enterprise-Roman photo.

Troutt 'can change' development in city

Commercial development—or lack of it—has been Romulus' weak spot for many years according to one political team.

And Terry L. Troutt, leader of that team, claims he can change it.

"It's disgraceful when you can't even buy a pair of men's socks in any store in a city of 27,000 people," Troutt said.

Teachers OK ed contract

A three-year teacher contract has been approved and ratified by the Huron School District Board of Education and the Huron Education Association (HEA).

The contract covering 108 teachers provides two per cent retroactive salary boost for last year's wage scales, a cost-of-living raises and a three per cent salary hike for next school year.

The approved contract also provides for increased health benefits and a "more concrete contract language."

A special school board meeting was held Monday and board members accepted the contract immediately after the HEA voted to ratify the contract.

The representatives of both the school board and HEA reached tentative agreement on Monday.

This year is the second year that teachers returned to their classrooms without a contract.

Members of the negotiating teams have been holding contract talks for more than 18 months.

The new contract sets up new procedures for administration of grievances against teachers and provides half-pay for teachers on sabbatical leave. It sets in "more concrete terms" the administrative rights of the school board in contract matters.

The minimum salary for the 1973-74 school year is $8,900 and the maximum salary is $17,200. The 1974-75 terms of the contract provide a three per cent across-the-board wage boost. There also is a cost-of-living formula which is to determine additional raises

"Why, I have to go to other cities to do my shopping, and that doesn't help the City of Romulus, or its citizens."

"WE KEEP on hearing that there can't be commercial development in this area now, until the people can support a store, but I see Taylor building a shopping center at Eureka and Inkster, right across the street from Romulus."

"It hurts me to think we can't get development like that here."

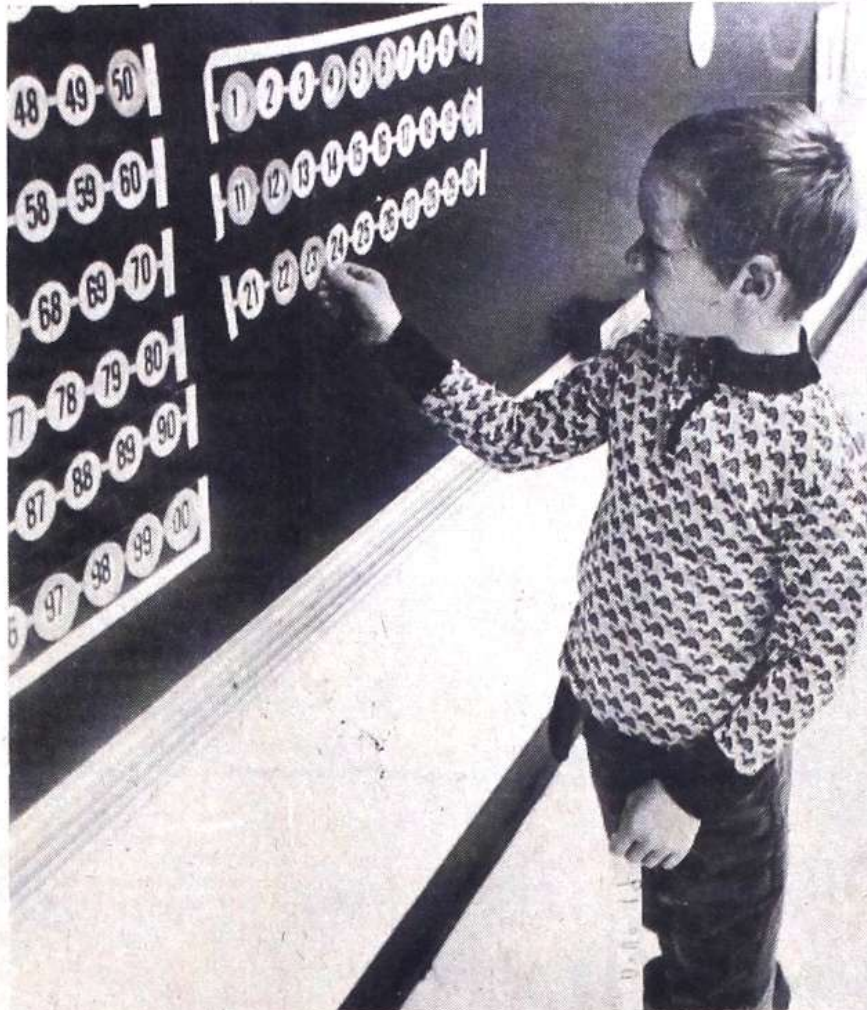

Troutt said that he will lobby for commercial development, if elected this November.

"It's up to the administration to encourage development in this community," Troutt said. "And I intend to take the bull by the horns, and do it myself."

"MY FIRST proposal would be to set up a businessman's committee to go out and promote Romulus as a good place for people to shop."

"Until now, I see people trying to protect a little clique of businessmen downtown, while allowing the rest of the city to deteriorate around them."

"The ideal place for a shopping center is on land right by the city hall, but I see no action in that direction."

Don't knock trout fish

(Continued from Page A-1) why shouldn't we have a state fish?" asked the candidate. "I was on the Senate Conservation Committee at the time, so I had the platform to lead the fight for the state's fish."

TROUTT'S ROAD to victory for his favorite fish was rocky in 1965 when he led the charge for the fish bill.

"First, there was Senator Basil Brown, who wanted the Brown Trout named state fish," Troutt explained. "Then, Senator Coleman Young - the one who's running for mayor in Detroit - wanted the Young Brown Trout named state fish."

"But, I managed to cut off the play on names, and get the bill through the Senate unanimously."

"They were pretty happy across the state, especially in Kalkaska County, where the world's largest monument to the Trout was built, because the county is Michigan's Trout Capital."

"I still have one of the original keys to that monument, given to me because I got the trout an honored spot along with the apple blossom, the robin and Petoskey stone.

"I hate to see the trout dragged into politics."

"It holds an honored spot in state citizens' hearts today."

City booms

Romulus experienced a "mini-boom" in construction during August and September, with $3.2 million in new building projects.

Some $25,000 of the total was for industrial buildings. Another $840,000 was for construction of a BV and a F Motel, which was started during August.

During the two-month period, the city's building department issued 114 building permits—including seven for industrial buildings, five for single family homes and 32 for garages and car-ports.

Mr. Johnson was 80

Progressive Club organizer dies

The charter president and organizer of the Romulus Progressive Club, Elmer Johnson, died last week after a long illness. He was 80.

Mr. Johnson, a citizen of Romulus for more than 40 years, was active in civic organizations, and in the politics of Romulus throughout his life.

But area residents who knew him said the love of his life was the Romulus Progressive Club—a civic betterment organization which has poured more than $300,000 into Romulus' well-being during the past 41 years.

UNTIL HE declined the post last year, Johnson was the only president of the organization. He also played a major role in establishing it in 1932.

"You could never give enough thanks to a man like Johnson, and to the organization he headed for so many years," said Romulus Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael. "The contributions he and his club made to this community, were immeasurable."

"I would say his organization has done more for Romulus during the past 40 years than all other civic organizations combined."

The councilmen of Romulus thought so much of Mr.

ELMER JOHNSON

Johnson that they named acreage set aside for a major city park in his honor.

UNDER MR. JOHNSON'S direction, the Romulus Progressive Club donated audio-visual equipment to the Romulus Community Schools; purchased buses for the school system's handicapped pupils; donated eyeglasses and shoes to the underprivileged; created numerous recreational opportunities for the citizens of Romulus, and played important roles in the annual Easter Seal, Muscular Dystrophy and other charitable fund raising drives.

In addition to his club's work, Mr. Johnson also found time to participate in civic affairs: serving on the Romulus Tax Board of Review for many years; working on voter registration and "get out the vote" drives during election campaigns and serving on the committee which petitioned for Romulus' cityhood.

Mr. Johnson also found time to be an active member of the Romulus Homeowners Association and the Romulus Goodfellows.

What may be even more outstanding recognition of his efforts may be that civic groups did not wait until after his death to honor Johnson. LAST YEAR, the Romulus Jaycees chose Mr. Johnson "Outstanding Citizen of Romulus—1972" for his achievements during the past 40 years.

At a testimonial dinner held in tribute to Mr. Johnson, Romulus city officials, officials of the Romulus School District, the Easter Seal Society of the United States, Manufacturers National Bank, Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) and State Sen. William Faust (D-13th District) sent accolades in recognition of Mr. Johnson's voluntary public service.

Mr. Johnson, who lived at 36700 Tyler Rd., Romulus, is a retired machinist from the Kelsey Hayes Corp.

He is survived by his wife, Sally, who is a resident of the Hope Convalescent Home in Westland.

Burial services were Friday at the Baum Funeral Home. Mr. Johnson's body was interred at the Romulus City Cemetery.

Sheriff function whittled

YET, THE ROAD commission contends that costs will be approximately the same, while security guards will be able to devote approximately 30 per cent of their time to non-security management duties. And the Wayne County Sheriff agreed to go along with the plan.

Present airport sheriff deputies will continue to perform law enforcement functions on the airport grounds outside of terminals. However, the security guards will have the same powers and duties as the sheriff road patrol members.

The first blow against the road patrol's strength was death more than one year ago when the board of commissioners indicated they would no longer fund patrols of the county's townships.

TOWNSHIPS WERE required to either "contract" for sheriff patrols or to hire their own police forces.

Romulus has purchased the services of the road patrol. Some 32 officers are assigned to the community outside the Metropolitan Airport.

Justice Brennan's swan song

Zings the press and 'anonymous' politics'

By DON HOENSHELL, Panax Editorial Director

LANSING — Justice Thomas E. Brennan said the people are being cheated by an increasingly anonymous government and newspapers which provide the playing field for the game. He zinged both in a double-barreled parting shot fired before a meeting of newspapermen here.

"I would much prefer to write the press releases on what the court does than write the opinions," he said. "It's what people perceive that makes the difference."

THAT'S WHY MOST political public relations jobs are filled with ex-newspapermen selling the boss' view of what he has done. The public concept thus becomes greater than the deed.

And that's why Washington is billed as the leakiest town in the world. Anonymous sources are protected by their facelessness and reporters do not demand identification.

"It's abundantly clear that things can be accomplished in government by what you get in the newspapers," Brennan said. "You have politicians using news media as a medium of power and you have newspapers using their power for their own purposes."

THE DANGER is that the system feeds on itself, that the more reliance reporters place on anonymous sources the easier it is for politicians to use the press.

Brennan's real fight is with the system, not with political people who, almost by definition, seek advantage or the newspapers who find that the lid slams down when they demand attribution.

Brennan feels there should be a greater effort made by the newspapers to get attribution and a demand for candor among politicians.

And he realizes that, in some cases, information would not be available on an attribution basis, that some use of anonymous sources is valid.

BUT HE URGES discretion as a means to improve the credibility of the newspapers and to get better performance, as well as rhetoric, from politicians.

It was vintage Brennan, who will leave the court Dec. 31 to stroll into his own sunset as dean of the new Thomas E. Cooley School of Law.

People were surprised when Brennan said he would leave his $42,000 a year seat on the court to launch his law school in the face of opposition from the law deans at Wayne State University and the University of Michigan.

Brennan got his Irish up when the public flap exploded over his dual jobs, the court and as acting dean of the school where he had a $10,000 a year expense account.

WHILE DENYING any conflict, he charged the newspapers with overkill. The real question was the 30 hours a week he was spending at the school, not that he had hired his wife and children to work there.

He solved the whole thing by quitting the court.

Brennan has been outspoken throughout his 10 years on courts in Detroit and at the state level. Nobody has to ask twice where he stands.

THAT'S WHY IT was in character for him to state his case on journalism and politics before a group of newspapermen.

He said that in some cases the public is getting only what the politicians want it to read and that the press should get tougher on the attribution issue.

State government will miss a guy like Brennan.

Pity the voting citizen

Mudslinging politicians turn the public 'sick'

In last week's edition of The Enterprise-Roman, the mayoral candidates in the November general election in Romulus called for an end to "mudslinging..."

And this newspaper cheers their expressed sentiments - provided the two mayoral candidates (and their respective slates) stick to their pledges.

Mudslinging has no place in Romulus, Belleville, or for that matter - in any election being held in the world's only true free society.

We've witnessed the tragedy of Watergate and reports that "both sides play the dirty game - that's politics."

In response to the comment on accepted "dirty play" in politics, we beg to differ.

The election in Romulus is less than four weeks away. Unless the tempo of the mudslinging and personal smearing ceases - pity the poor voting citizen who must make a choice.

We've seen the so-called "election tabloids" printed by both major slates...and they've got the nerve to call them "newspapers."

By no means do we claim to be perfect, and free of human error - but we must account for our reporting...when right or wrong.

When forced to read election news tabloids, the unsuspecting citizen finds the so-called news columns filled with insinuations and plain adulterated vocabulary.

While the two major slates go at their tasks, the independent candidates must wonder "Does anyone know about our candidacies?"

If the major slate candidates continue the personal attack strategy, the independents just might walk away with the election - and that might be good for Romulus.

Communist hang-up

Our Credo:

The press works for freedom

By MITCH KEHETIAN, Editor

If we decided not to print a newspaper today, some would click the champagne glasses - but the majority of the reading mass would raise their voices in anger...not at the working men and women who made today's edition possible, but at those who stilled freedom of the press.

In this free society we call America, newspapers from time to time must skip an edition - and the stoppage ranges from mechanical difficulties to labor strife. But never on orders of a dictatorial government bent on the craze to still the voice of freedom, which we call "freedom of the press."

YET EACH DAY, in captive states governed by authoritative dictates, working men and women dedicated to the high ideals of "expressive" journalism succumb to the wishes of the state...for the safety of their lives.

And for those who defy the state, there is banishment, imprisonment, and public ridicule. William L. Ryan's special Associated Press series on the dissident underground press movement in the Soviet Union unfolds the dilemma men and women are willing to endure for the truth.

When power-hungry men attempt to scale the tower of greed, first they crush the press - then the people. And it's happening this very moment...in captive societies.

THIS WEEK AS WE observe National Newspaper Week, we do so in a gesture of rededication to the profession and the reading public of Western Wayne County.

In a recent editorial in the Philadelphia Bulletin, noted columnist Albert Blank said: "Consistent with the freedom of the press and the peoples' right to know, the press should continue with pride to state that it will not reveal its sources - and damn the consequences."

And he continues with this message: "The newspaper is becoming a moral and intellectual institution with a creed, a mission and dedication - for without such an institution, freedom itself would be on its way out of our lives."

THE PUBLIC'S ESTEEM of the press will never decline as long as the press never loses its faith or esteem in itself.

And while the newspaper reading public helps preserve freedom of the press, so does the neighborhood merchant who takes advantage of the advertising avenue a local newspaper offers.

In state-controlled newspapers, there is no need for advertising. The state pays for the publishing, the employees' wages - and dictates the flow of news and opinions.

The day someone on Capitol Hill suggests the subsidizing of newspapers, we'll be the first to fight the measure. We've witnessed the horror of a handout government...the handout usually comes with strings that choke one's willingness to remain competitive.

WE LAY NO CLAIM to solving all the ailments of society, be it in the nation's capital - or closer to home here in Western Wayne County.

The role of the large national news media is to keep us informed on major undertakings around the world; while here at the Associated Newspaper Group, we have a mission to keep the citizenry abreast of the local events that affect our everyday lives.

Just the other day a school teacher chastised this newspaper for a series of editorials critical of the teacher strike dilemma. We reminded the educator that the editorials merely reflected the opinion of the newspaper and we would welcome her opinion.

Freedom of the press is a two-way street. At Associated...we strive to uphold and practice the creed of responsible expression. If we were to fail in the guarantee of responsible expression, then freedom of the press dies.

Some of the dedicated journalists who help make it possible at Associated include Lothar Konietzko, Henry Cantin, Lee Smith, Tom Mooradian, Kay DeBord, Jim Carravallah, Carol Thomas, Dale Gowing, Bob Berg, Wes Thorp, Tom Ochiltree and my news editor, Lucy Wiesend.

THE LIST COULD go on and on, and include the vast cadre of news carriers, advertising personnel, production staff members - and the merchants who help American newspapers retain their editorial freedoms.

And finally, the most important person - you, the reader of our publications - for in the end, the liberty exercised by the press belongs to the people and not the press alone.

From exile to asylum commitment

The Kremlin's offensive attacks human rights

EDITOR'S NOTE — Punishment for dissension in the Soviet Union varies from the mild - such as exile - to harsh imprisonment. In between is commitment to an insane asylum. An AP specialist in Soviet affairs tells how dissidents are dealt with in this second of three articles.

AP Special Correspondent

A few towering figures still man the battered ramparts of human rights in the Soviet Union, defying the most sustained Kremlin offensive against dissent since the Stalin era.

Andrei D. Sakharov, the noted nuclear physicist; Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn, the Nobel Prize author, and a few other eminent intellectuals associated with them risk the same sort of terrifying punishment meted out to many others who dare criticize the system.

with behind-the-scenes methods used on the nonprominent, they find it least painful to fling him out into the West, and it is best if it can be worked out as a voluntary agreement in the guise of temporary trip abroad or an irrevocable emigration.

That was the tactic used against many outstanding figures, including Dr. Zhores Medvedev the noted geneticist now living in London; Valery N. Chalidze, the physicist, now in the United States; Alexander Yesenin-Volpin, the mathematician, now in Italy, and others. The human rights advocates were stripped of their Soviet citizenship while they were abroad.

subject in wet cloths that contract while drying, causing immense pain.

From a long roll of "psychiatric" prisoners, a few case histories:

—Vladimir Bukovsky, 31, writer. He criticized persecution of writers. In May 1963 he was confined in the Serbsky Institute of Forensic Psychiatry, then transferred to a prison psychiatric hospital for 15 months. Since then he was arrested twice more, and underwent forced psychiatric treatment. Protests from abroad persuaded the regime to drop its attempts to have him declared insane. Tried as a criminal he drew a 12-year sentence in prison, labor camp and exile. He is in frail health.

joint statement, then expressed grave concern about such use of psychiatry.

Natalya Gorbanevskaya, a young poet active in the human rights cause, protested the invasion of Czechoslovakia. Arrested in 1970 she was declared mentally unstable and committed to an indeterminate sentence in an insane asylum.

Asylum sentence

—Dr. Leonid Plyuschch, 33, mathematician, and Prof. Yuri Shikhanovic, mathematician, both members of the Action Group for the Defense of Human Rights, were arrested recently and subjected to forced psychiatric treatment. Plyuschch had circulated a petition saying "only madmen" dared fight violations of rights in the Soviet Union. He was not permitted to attend his trial where he drew an indeterminate insane asylum sentence.

LABOR CAMPS, PRISONS:

The "strict regime" labor camp is the favored punishment for dissenters. "Strict" sets the political prisoners apart from ordinary criminals. They are required to do unskilled labor and are heavily punished for infractions. Diet is bare subsistence, with heavy reliance on bread and potatoes.

Camp officials, wrote Valentin Moroz, who managed to get out a letter, "do not have to observe any laws or regulations."

"This is the place where terror reigns supreme. Every effort is made to kill a man's human feelings."

Smuggled letter

Yuri Galanskov was sentenced to a camp in January 1968, for writing poems for the underground press and protesting persecution of writers. Last year he managed to get a letter smuggled out.

"I am dying," he wrote. "They are doing everything to hasten my death."

He underwent an operation for a perforated ulcer. It was performed in the camp infirmary by an inmate with no experience as a surgeon. Two months later, Galanskov, 33, was dead of peritonitis.

Dissidents dread Vladimir Prison, a forbidding institution built in czarist times for 2,000 prisoners and far worse today, they say, then it was then. Alexander Ginzburg, a writer who experienced both Vladimir Prison and a strict regime camp, told about it in a letter smuggled out of the camp.

"Camps, prisons and the death of those near to us—that is what we are surrounded by," he wrote. "And nevertheless we hope to hold out. We are sustained not...by the good will of governments of great powers, but by the anger, protest and solidarity of all honest people who hold dear the dignity of man."

"The prison psychiatric hospital is a frightening place for a sane person.

An inmate has no rights. Doctors do with him as they please."--Pyotr Grigorenko.

Branded as lunatics

The regime seems to hold it axiomatic that a citizen disagreeing with its rule is most likely a lunatic. Nikita S. Khrushchev had contended that the major source of such disagreement was psychotic.

"It cannot be supposed that the rules of community life will be safe from violations from mentally deranged persons," noted Khrushchev in 1963, a year before those who ousted him called him "hare-brained."

More than a score of "special" Soviet hospitals are associated with police use of psychiatry.

Solzhenitsyn in 1970 denounced what he called the "obliging, perjured psychiatrists," adding that "detention of free-thinking people in insane asylums is spiritual murder, a variant of the gas chamber and even more cruel."

Psychiatric torture

Bertram D. Wolfe of Stanford University, historian and expert on Soviet affairs, wrote last year that psychiatric treatment of dissidents involves drug-induced high fever and torture by such methods as binding the —Pyotr Grigorenko, former army general, champion of rights of minority people. He was sent to a "special" psychiatric hospital at Chernyakovsk, whence he managed to smuggle out a manuscript called "Thoughts of a Madman."

A frightening place

"The prison psychiatric hospital is a frightening place for a sane person," he wrote. "An inmate has no rights. Doctors do with him as they please."

—Andrei Amalrik, a young writer and civil rights champion whose "Will the Soviet Union Survive until 1984?" infuriated the Kremlin, finished a three-year labor camp term May 22. His wife Gysel was informed officially that he was rearrested that day on new charges and sent back for three more years. He now has meningitis and his health is declining rapidly.

—Viktor Fainberg, Vladimir Borisov, members of a human rights group. They were arrested in August 1968, for protesting the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia. Both got forced treatment at the Serbsy Institute. Records of the case, smuggled out, were studied by 44 British psychiatrists who, in a

Battle may be limited

But perhaps because of their prominence, the regime opted for siege rather than the trial and imprisonment tactics used against so many others since Leonid I. Brezhnev came to power as head of the Communist party in 1964. For a time, then, the battle may be limited to persistent official harassment.

There are many ways open to the regime for dealing with inconvenient intellectuals in a land where history of repression seems constantly to repeat itself.

Milder punishments include exile abroad; exile inside the U.S.S.R., restrictions on means of livelihood, harassment, spying on and threatening a dissenter and his family.

But usually, the punishments are harsh: confinement in prison or hard-labor camps plus, often, forced treatment in prison mental hospitals.

Czars had their way

The czars frequently got rid of dissidents by letting them out of Russia and not letting them return. Lenin, too, used this device for ridding himself of "trouble makers."

The current regime would probably like to handle Sakharov, Solzhenitsyn and some others that way: let them out and then lift their citizenship.

"You may notice," Solzhenitsyn told interviewers recently, "that in those cases when it is impossible to get rid of a person"

National Guard, Army Reserves honor Romulus Mayor Carmichael

Romulus Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael has been honored for being the second mayor in the nation to agree to encourage his employees to participate in the National Guard and Army Reserve programs, in an effort to keep America safe.

At a recent meeting of the Detroit Rotary Club, James M. Roche, former chairman of the board for the General Motors Corp., and Chairman of the National Committee for Employer Support of the Guard and Reserve recognized Carmichael for his cooperation stating he helped "establish a proper climate to encourage those who will participate in the nation's defense."

CARMICHAEL agreed to participate in a program

aimed at the nation's 12 million employers which would discourage employer discrimination against workers who participate in the Army Reserve and National Guard program.

Roche said the National Guard and Army Reserve have become more important to the nation's defense with the advent of the all-volunteer Army.

"The all volunteer plan provides for active military forces supported by efficient well-trained, well-equipped guard and reserve units; guard and reserve units which can quickly and effectively be meshed with the active military in the event of an emergency," he added.

However, employers, who may benefit from the new all-volunteer concepts, are reluctant to employ guard and reserve members.

"SOME EMPLOYERS have refused outright to employ guard and reserve members—other employers have withheld promotional opportunities—still others have required members to use their vacation time for annual training," he said. "It's clearly apparent, that such policies adversely effect enlistment and membership in the guard and reserve, and where such policies exist, they obviously must be changed."

Roche said the National Committee for Employer Support of the guard and reserve was formed by President Nixon, in an effort to change the employment practices used against guard and reserve members.

Roche was appointed national chairman.

The committee has encouraged employers to recognize the importance of reserve army units, to encourage employees to join them, to provide for adoption of policies which enable employees to participate without harm, to grant military leaves for guard duty and to publicize their commitment to the program.

ROCHE SAID Carmichael, and other employers who participate: "Fulfill our responsibility as loyal, concerned Americans who want and seek peace, but who value our freedom and are prepared to fight for it if necessary."

Pears glamorize tapioca pudding

The proud pear, with us since Homer's time, is shown to best advantage in attractive desserts that retain the fresh flavor of the fruit. Quick-cooking tapioca provides thickening and best consistency, yet leaves the delicate color and flavor of the pears free to blend with the other ingredients in this recipe for Cinnamon Pear Tapioca.

Here's pear pudding that's glamorous, and nourishing at the same time. Fresh pears, ginger, sugar, lemon juice, and cinnamon candies are some of the good things making this eye-catching dessert unusual in flavor. Quick-cooking tapioca is a traditional dessert, a favorite of American families throughout generations, and as an ingredient in Cinnamon Pear Tapioca, it provides a pleasant texture.

Serve this delicious pudding chilled and add cream, if desired. It's something everyone in the family will enjoy.

Fresh Cinnamon Pear Tapioca

2 cups water
Two-thirds cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon ginger (optional)
1/8 teaspoon salt
2 pears, peeled, cored, and diced
3 tablespoons Minute Tapioca
1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon candies
2 tablespoons lemon juice

Combine water, sugar, ginger, salt, and pears in saucepan. Simmer until pears are tender. Drain, measuring liquid. If necessary, add water to liquid to make 2 and one-third cups. Set pears aside. Return measured liquid to saucepan; add tapioca and mix well. Let stand 5 minutes. Place over medium heat. Cook and stir until mixture comes to a boil. Remove from heat. Add pears, cinnamon candies, and lemon juice, stirring until cinnamon candies are dissolved. Cool, stirring once after 20 minutes. Chill. Serve with cream, if desired. Makes 3 cups or 6 servings.

A few tips ...

In order to process the news items submitted each week by publicity chairmen of various organizations and others bringing in information, we've listed a set of do's and don'ts which will make the handling of stories more simple.

DO type news if at all possible. If a typewriter is not available print (especially proper names) or clearly write information.

DO use only one side of paper, preferably unlined typing paper.

DO include a name and phone number for reference.
DO leave at least a two-inch margin at the top and one-inch margin at the sides of your paper. This gives us room for corrections and instructions to the printers.

DO indicate Miss or Mrs. when using feminine names.

DO follow the four w's — who, what, where, when, and why — when sending in information.

DON'T worry about having items in story form, we'll take care of that as long as ALL the facts are there.

Barbara Mitchell receives 'Woman of the Year' award

The Belleville Business and Professional Women's Club this year gave its 'Woman of the Year' accolades to Barbara Mitchell who has been a member of the club since 1966.

Barbara and her husband, Robert, reside on Borgman Street, Belleville, with their two sons, Robert, 14, and David, eight. The boys attend North Junior High and Quirk School, respectively.

Quirk School plays an important role in the Mitchell's life since it's there that Barb spends her working hours. She has returned to teaching first grade this fall after spending six years with second graders.

BARB EARNED her BS degree at Eastern Michigan University in 1957 and her MA there in 1962. For her first nine years as an educator, she was a first grade teacher. While on campus, she served as head office girl at Goddard Hall and as president of her sorority, Pi Kappa Sigma, from which she received a scholarship in her senior year. She was also an organizer of the senior honorary, Adahi, which is now Mortar Board, the national honorary for women.

A native of the area, Barb graduated with honors in 1953 from Belleville High where she was named 'best all-round girl' of her senior class. She also received a music scholarship to Interlochen in her senior year, returned the next summer as CIT counselor in training and for the next four seasons as counselor in the high school division.

The award winner and her family are members of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville where Barb has sung with the choir in past years. Her favorite pastimes are cooking and camping but, she says, "Teaching is my life. I love children and Quirk School."

PRESENTLY FINANCE chairman of the BPW, Barb has chaired 11 of the club's 12 committees during her seven-year membership.

On hand to share in her daughter's big evening and to see her presented with a bouquet of pink roses was Mrs. Lee Vandecar.

The October meeting was planned by the Woman of the Year committee; Marilyn Montgomery, chairman; Helen Curry, Olive Howard and Ruth Lindsay.

The evening at South Junior High School also included discussion of the Blood Bank with Martha Morton once again in charge. Stressing the need for pledges, she distributed lists of possible donors for the group to call. The annual event is to be held October 22 from 2:30 to 7:45 p.m. in the boy's gymnasium at Belleville High School.

Two new members were welcomed into the BPW — Alice Brady, a teacher in the Romulus School District, and Mary Huff, a teacher at the new nursery school held in the Methodist Church.

Living costs are surveyed

What does it cost a family or an individual to live these days - to buy food, clothing, housing, transportation, medical care, schooling and the services Americans use?

A sample of households in this area, part of some 17,000 households across the nation, are furnishing this information about living costs to the federal government. The households are taking part in the Consumer Expenditure Survey being conducted by the Bureau of the Census, an agency of the U.S. Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration.

Mrs. Bernice Henk, supervisor of the survey area office in Detroit, says that interviewers will begin calling on the survey households early in October for the fourth time this year. Fourth quarter calls will continue through December.

THE CENSUS Bureau is acting as data collection agent for the U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS). Results of the survey will show what changes have taken place in consumer purchasing since the last survey was taken in 1960-61 and thus enable BLS to create an up-to-date "market basket" of goods and services which will reflect today's buying habits.

Price changes for items in the market basket are measured monthly by BLS and reflected in the Consumer Price Index (CPI) each month.

The Detroit office administers the survey program in the metropolitan areas of Detroit and Flint, Mich., and Toledo, Ohio, and Montcalm, Ionia, Berrien, Van Buren, and Lenawee Counties in Michigan.

All Around the Town ...with Lee

Niece honored at China shower

MRS. JOSEPH MOHR entertained 16 guests Saturday at a bridal shower luncheon honoring her niece, Sandra Lee Niemann of Flat Rock. Held at her home on Middlebelt Road, the party began with a salad menu followed by bridge and other card games.

Winners of the four table prizes were Mrs. Gene Niemann of Gibraltar; Mrs. Howard Crane and Mrs. Peter McDougall of Flat Rock; and Mrs. Theodore Lotz of Wyandotte. The house prize, a terrarium which the hostess had made in an apple-shaped glass container, went to the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Gerald Niemann, who tallied the largest score in a handbag-point game.

Using the orange, gold and russet color theme of the pending wedding, the hostess centered her main table with an arrangement of mums, wheat, cattails and grapes. Individual tables were covered in orange cloths and appointed with russet napkins and bud vases holding matching button mums.

The bride-elect then opened her 'China Closet' items which were arranged in a large wicker trunk.

The new mother is the former Elaine Giblin, daughter of the George Giblins of North Shore Drive. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gutierrez of Martinsville Road.

Under the Big Top theme for party

THERE WERE 10 candles on the carousel birthday cake which marked the birthday of Lisa Kay Johnson, daughter of the Marc Johnsons of Romulus. Ten of Lisa's close friends were invited to join her Sunday at one o'clock for lunch and two hours of games and party fun.

Balloons, clown cut-outs and several large stuffed toys added to the circus mood of the afternoon. Canned apples and bags of popcorn to take home also carried out the carnival atmosphere.

Young ladies attending were Lisa's cousins from Wayne, Cindy and Cheri Lukomski; and girlfriends and classmates, Donna Raupe, Caroline Nelson, Missy Ulbrich, Janice Hoffer, Sheila Smith, Michelle Hazen, Ruthann Jamison, and Cindy Pratt.

Woman from Belleville performs in concert

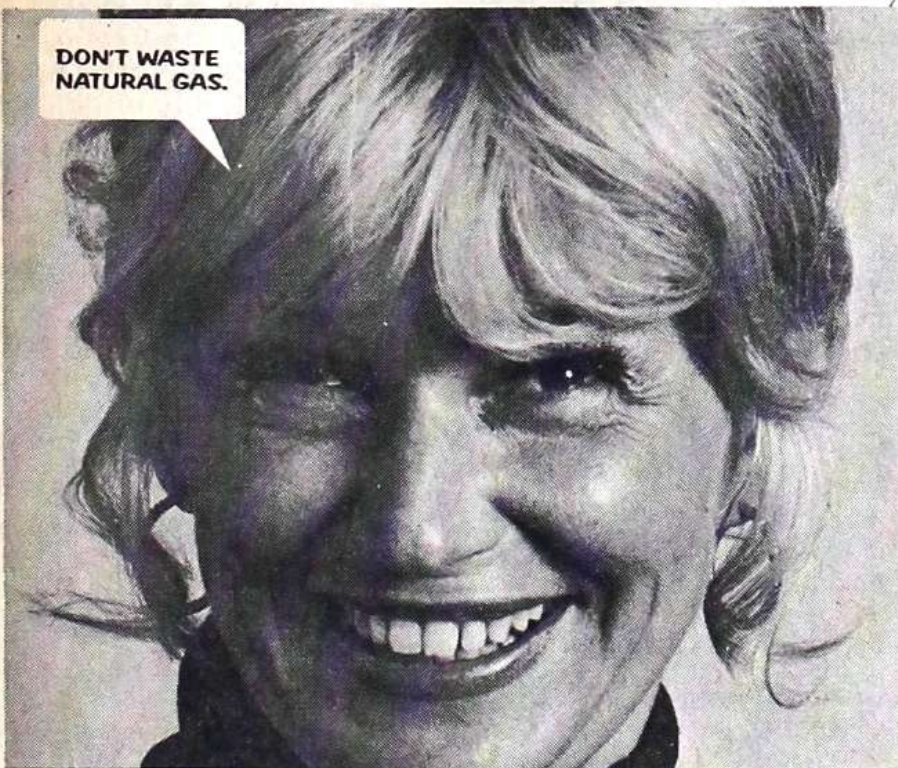

A Belleville woman will perform in Western Michigan University's Symphony Orchestra's first concert of the year. She is Anna Alimpich. The concert will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday in the James W. Miller Auditorium on campus in Kalamazoo. The concert will be the first of a new "Levi Level" series. The 90-piece orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Herbert Butler, will perform

"Variaciones Concertantes" by South American born Alberto Ginastera; Beethoven's "Egmont Overture" and Tchaikovsky's "Pathetique Symphony." The "Levi Level" project is an attempt to encourage students — high school as well as college — to attend the Sunday afternoon concert series presented by the department of music. The grand tier of the auditorium will be opened for these concerts, where specially written "down-to-earth" program notes will be distributed. "Levi Level" patrons are encouraged to attend in casual to "grubby clothes."

The feature Sarah Klein likes most about her new Gas dryer doesn't even use Gas.

In fact, it helps her conserve Gas. It's her permanent press cycle. Ten minutes of nothing but fresh, fluffing air on her permanent press clothes — to keep the wrinkles from setting in. This saves Sarah all kinds of ironing, all kinds of Gas, and all kinds of money. No wonder it's her favorite feature. But there's much more to appreciate in today's modern Gas dryers. Improved insulation and more precise controls mean even less fuel consumed, and even more money saved. And a Gas dryer operates for about one-fourth the cost of operating an electric one.

So, when you think about replacing your old dryer, think about a new Gas dryer with the permanent press cycle and other money-saving features. Various size models are now on display at Gas appliance dealers and Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showrooms. And, whether you purchase a new dryer or use your present one, here are a few good tips for increasing its operating efficiency: (1) Keep the dryer's lint filter clean. (2) Avoid overdrying your clothing. (3) Keep the dryer's flue clear of lint accumulations. (4) Don't forget to follow the manufacturer's proper operating instructions.

Railroad station 'moves' to Romulus

Belleville's railroad station — gutted by fire in May, 1970 and razed later — has been officially closed, but its operations are being moved to Romulus. The Michigan Public Service Commission (PSC) has given its permission to the Norfolk and Western Railroad, which serves both Belleville and Romulus, to transfer all station operations previously performed in Belleville to the N and W's station in Romulus. The order from the three-man PSC panel allows the railroad to move all its operations to the Romulus offices, provided the railroad increases office space for the agent who formerly handled the station chores in Belleville. THE ROMULUS station will handle all orders for railroad service for Romulus, Belleville, French Landing, Whittaker and Willis. Previously, the Belleville station handled the services for French Landing, Whittaker and Willis. Since the May, 1970 fire, however, station operations for the three rail stops were transferred to Milan. Only two citizens contested the planned move during a PSC hearing Sept. 20 — the owner of a lumber yard served by the Belleville station and an official of the National Farmers' Organization.

"It was indicated on the record at the present time the station in Romulus was not large enough to handle both the Romulus agent and the Belleville agent and their respective clerks," wrote the three-man panel of the two dissenting testimonies. However, the railroad offered to expand the Romulus operation, and the panel accepted.

WROTE THE PANEL: "The transfer of the Belleville station operation including the pre-pay stations at Whittaker, Willis and French Landing, will be just, reasonable and adequate to meet the needs of the petitioners patrons and the public."

"Authority is hereby granted to the Norfolk and Western Railway Company to transfer the station to Romulus."

No timetable has been set up to transfer the Belleville operations from Milan, where they have been quartered following the fire which gutted the Belleville station.

However, railroad officials indicated that work on the expansion of the Romulus facility will get underway in the near future.

Monroe area to be toured

Disaster assistance hearing set

A special House Committee studying ways to speed civil defense assistance to disaster victims, will conduct a public hearing at 1:30 p.m. Friday, at the St. Mary Academy Auditorium, 510 W. Elm St., Monroe.

The Monroe area was the scene of damaging floods during the past year.

According to State Rep. Edward E. Mahalak, the special committee will spend the day in and around Monroe. It will meet at 9:30 a.m. at Smith's Restaurant, 13494

Laplace, at the Laplace Exit, off I-75. The committee will tour flood disaster areas around Monroe, then return for the 1:30 p.m. public hearing at St. Mary's Academy Auditorium.

"The committee invites citizens of the community to attend the public hearing and, if they desire to do so, to enter testimony," Mahalak said. "We would especially like to hear from those who were involved in the floods, both public officials and individual property owners."

The committee will later report its findings and recommendations to the Legislature. According to Mahalak, flood, tornado and major storm disasters in Michigan in the past year have made it apparent that many people in disaster areas were unaware of what procedures to follow to obtain civil defense equipment and assistance.

"It is vital that local officials and other people know how to obtain the equipment and aid is available through state and federal civil defense offices," he said. If necessary, these procedures should be streamlined so that the assistance can be provided as quickly as possible. If it takes too much time to obtain it, it is of little value."

Belleville sand named Country soil survey complete

A three-year survey which charted all the soil types in Wayne County has been completed with a declaration that it "will open a new chapter in Wayne County government's efforts to improve our environment."

The last of thousands of soil sample borings was taken near the bandshell on Belle Isle Oct. 3 as part of the ceremony marking completion of the project.

Wayne County Board of Commissioner's Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick, in speaking at the ceremony, said the county's activities in the field of environmental protection would be stepped up.

HE USED the occasion to call for stiffer fines for air pollution and to announce he will ask the county board of commissioners to establish a Wayne County Environmental Council.

"I believe the state should give the courts in Wayne County the authority to impose the same stringent fines for air pollution that are in force throughout the rest of Michigan," FitzPatrick said.

FitzPatrick said he will propose that the environmental council be so constituted that it will provide expert advice to the county board of commissioners and other county agencies, on all matters relating to our environment.

HE INVITED other governmental units, business, labor and "concerned citizens" to take part in the planning of the council, and said he would recommend that at least one public hearing be held to receive their views.

The soil survey covered 230,000 of the 388,000 acres in Wayne County, missing only those acres "irrevocably covered with concrete or buildings," in the words of our survey official.

Among the 29 soil types identified is a previously-unclassified variety found near Belleville and therefore named Belleville loamy fine sand.

The survey was conducted by the Soil Conservation Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Michigan Agricultural Experiment Station at Michigan State University. The Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service and the County Planning Commission cooperated in the program.

CHEMISTRY CLASS RESUMES — All classes in Van Buren Public Schools are back in operation again after a nine-day strike by the district's teachers. A Wayne County Circuit Court order issued by Judge James N. Canham forced the teachers back to their classrooms. Further negotiation sessions between the teachers and school officials also were ordered by the court's ruling. Noted Pianist to perform

Plymouth Symphony opens fall season

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will open its 28th season at 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 11 with pianist Richard Syracuse as guest soloist.

All six season programs will be performed in the auditorium of Plymouth's Canton High School, Joy west of Canton Center Road.

After Thursday's performance, Conductor Wayne Dunlap will take the orchestra to Grand Valley State College, to repeat the program on Sunday, Oct. 14. Dunlap heads the music department there and commutes to Plymouth for rehearsals and concerts.

SYRACUSE, a young New Yorker who favors the "Romantic era," will be heard with the orchestra in Beethoven's concerto No. 4 in G major. The orchestra will be heard in "Four Scottish Dances" by Arnold, "The White Peacock" by Griffes and "Hary Janos Suite" by Kodaly.

Tickets will be available at the door at $2. K-12 students will be admitted free, but students below sixth grade must be accompanied by an adult. Symphony Society memberships will also be available.

Senior citizens residing in Tonquish Manor will be given free bus rides to the auditorium beginning 45 minutes before concert time. Syracuse, who has two degrees from Juilliard School of Music, has won the Concert Artists Guild Debut Award and the Alfred Casella International Piano Competition in Naples. He studied two years in Rome under a Fulbright scholarship.

DUNLAP, beginning his 23rd season with the Plymouth Symphony, returned recently from a summer of teaching in Vienna.

Thursday evening's opening concert is a departure from tradition. The symphony's five other programs will be offered on the usual Sunday afternoons at 4 on these dates and with these programs:

Nov. 18, Flautist Nelson Hauenstein; Dec. 9, Kenneth Jewell Chorale in Handel's "Messiah"; Jan. 27, family concert featuring music of young composers; March 10, Severo Ballet Company in Adolph Adam's "Giselle"; and April 21, violinist Millard Taylor.

TEN-YEAR-OLD Johnny Doran, who plays Frankie's cousin, John Henry, makes his Meadow Brook debut direct from the opening of his first film in New York, "The Secret Files of Mrs. Basil E. Frankweiler," in which he plays the leading role opposite Ingrid Bergman.

Also making their first appearances on the Meadow Brook stage are two veteran Detroit actors, J.A. Peddy as Honey Brown, and Hank Rolike as T.T. Williams. Mr. Rolike toured nationally in "No Place To Be Somebody" and "Ain't Supposed To Die A Natural Death," was seen in the recent film "Fox Style," and is currently seen in the Detroit-location thriller "Detroit 9000."

J.A. Peddy, named best actor of 1965 at Tennessee A. and I. University, played Hud this summer in the first stock production of "Hair," and appeared in "The Choice" last season at the Vest Pocket Theatre. His original play, "Sermon of Man," was named the best in the 1971 Detroit Theatre Festival and the best production in the 1973 Mort Furay Festival.

Others in the cast are Fred Thompson as Jarvis, Rebecca Sand as Janice, Don Konrad as Mr. Addams, Marianne Muellerleile as Mrs. West, Susan Wold as Helen Fletcher, Carey Yeager as Doris, and James C. Montgomery as Barney MacKean.

Tickets can be obtained at Hudson's or by calling the Meadow Brook Box Office at 377-3300.

Meadow Brook Theatre, a regional professional company, is located on the campus of Oakland University.

NOTED PIANIST — Plymouth's Symphony Orchestra will open the season with Richard Syracuse as guest soloist. Syracuse, a noted pianist, favors the "romantic era."

Bobby Short heralds benefit

"An Evening with Bobby Short" will herald the first benefit performance for Detroit's new Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts at 8:30 p.m., Oct. 15 at The Music Hall, 350 Madison Avenue, Detroit.

Bobby Short, the "darling of the international set" will present an evening of wit, style and elegance. Bobby is the last of the sophisticated cafe pianists and singers, who draws his celebrated following from the "Beautiful People," show-biz crowd, and fashion world. He has graced the White House, New York stage, renowned concert halls, television, intimate supper clubs, and fashionable gatherings around the world.

Bobby Short's special bag is full of songs of the twenties and thirties - songs of Cole Porter, the Gershwins, Noel Coward, Rodgers and Hart, and Vernon Duke, along with a generous helping of current show tunes and down and out blues and honky-tonk numbers. He has been the resident troubador at New York's Hotel Carlyle for the past five years.

Tickets for the special performance will be $50 to $250. Patrons ($50 ticket) and sponsors ($25 ticket) will have the pleasure of meeting Bobby Short at "The Music Hall Speakeasy Afterglow" at the Harmonie Club just around the corner from The Music Hall.

The speakeasy setting, which will be created by Tom Schoenith, will recapture the style of the '30's.

Meadow Brook's opener promises to be a winner

Carson McCullers' prize-winning play, "The Member of the Wedding," will open Meadow Brook Theatre's eighth season at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 11.

Winner of both the New York Critics Award and the Donaldson Award, Mrs. McCullers' adaptation of her novel of the same name was first produced in New York on Jan. 5, 1950.

The plot encompasses the poignant loneliness of adolescence, and the bond of affection between the motherless girl, Frankie, and their Black housekeeper, Berenice Sadie Brown. Terence Kilburn, artistic director of Meadow Brook Theatre, will direct the opening production.

THE ROLE OF Frankie will be played by Mary Wright of San Francisco, who was seen most recently with the Roundabout Theatre in New York as Ophelia in "Hamlet." The first recipient of the William Benton Award in 1970, Miss Wright spent three seasons with the American Shakespeare Festival in Stratford, Connecticut, appearing in various roles that included Essie in "The Devil Dislike" with Cyril Ritchard, and "All's Well That Ends Well" with Eva Le Gallienne.

The featured role of Berenice Sadie Brown, now one of classic scale in the American theatre, will be played by a distinguished Detroit actress and

Humorist to perform at concert

The Dearborn Symphony Orchestra, directed by Nathan Gordon, will present the opening concert of its 12th season at 8:30 p.m. Oct. 13 in the Edsel Ford High School Auditorium, Rotunda Drive, West Dearborn.

Going eclectic can be an exciting adventure

Eclectic is a fascinating idea...but every time you try it, it seems to turn out "hodge-podge."

Taking what appears to be the best of various styles or colors is an art — and the whole business of going eclectic is one of the most exciting adventures in home decorating today.

"It's easy for decorators," you say. "But how can I make it work?"

SIMPLY, BY using a thread of continuity.

This is not as paradoxical as it sounds.

In the anomaly of this newest home furnishings style, you can cross-breed styles, colors, patterns — do almost anything you feel like.

Heresy becomes quite acceptable.

WHAT YOU must remember is that somewhere in your individuality, a central scheme — a big idea — holds the pieces together.

If you study the living room by designer Cathy Erb, you'll see oriental tables...a neoteric (add that to your decorator vocabulary) etagere...traditional upholstered pieces...and a French provincial ceiling.

What makes it go together so beautifully?

If you take a close look, there is a key pattern theme throughout the room — diamonds. They're in the tables; they're in the carpet; they make up the window grillwork.

THERE IS even a diamond design in the wallcovering and in the upholstery. The diamond pattern unifies the room and still allows the excitement and contrast of the eclectic mix.

What's the big idea in the bedroom? A designer, Robert Whitman, said: "An offbeat color scheme."

Pick up a color scheme from a decorating book, and you're a student...pick out a color scheme from a magazine, and you're a copy-cat...but translate a color scheme from nature, and you're an artist.

If you're afraid to mix red, purple, lavender, orange, and yellow...you shouldn't be. Mother Nature does it all the time, and she knows it's "not nice to fool" you.

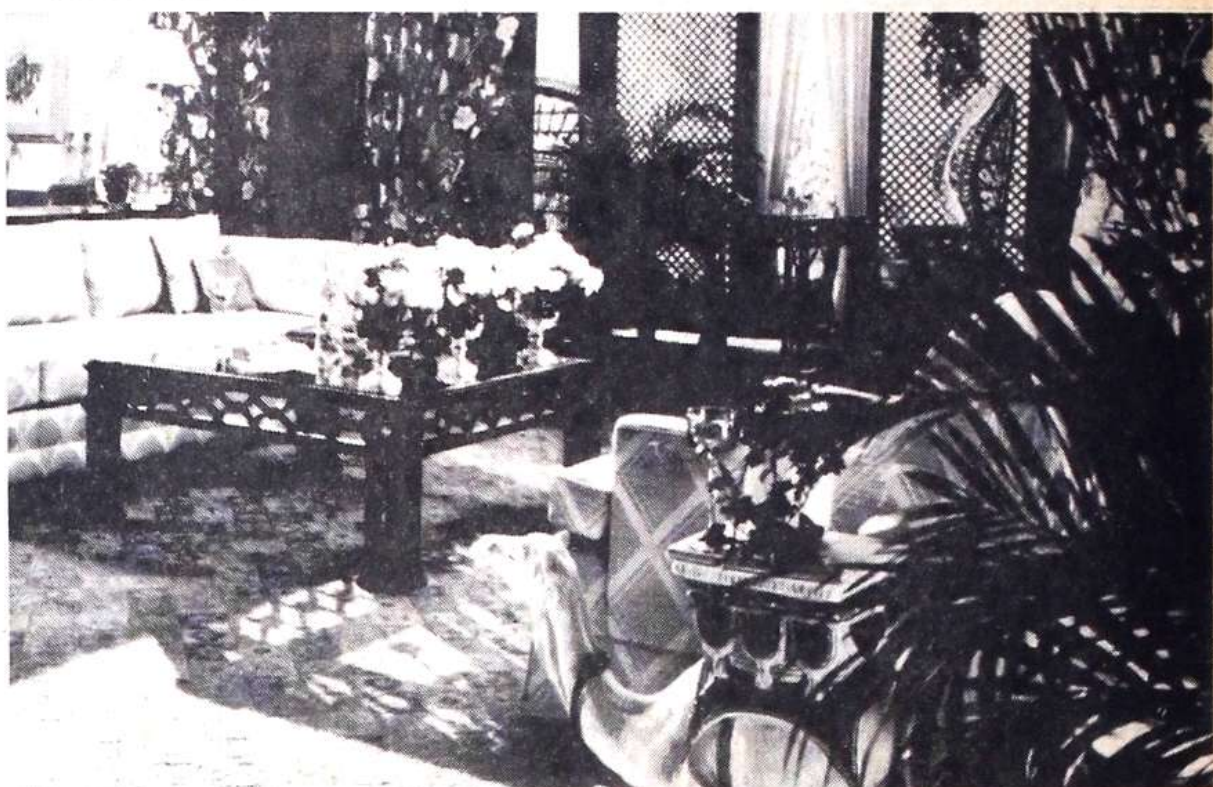

TAKE A LOOK at the floral arrangement on the elegant dresser. Roses, delphiniums, violets and marigolds make a fantastic composition.

Whitman uses another simple trick — mating several shades of the same color family. For example, the plush carpet in lilac highlights the purple in the bedspread...and the gold of the sitting room walls is picked up in another shade of gold in the plaid love seat.

Don't be self-conscious about mixing the old with the new. Antique appointments give a new house character and mellowness...while modern new furnishings update an old house.

Eclectic doesn't mean putting a square peg in a round hole. It means creating the extraordinary...the uncommon...the unusual...with diverse elements based around some central or big idea.

With this in mind, you can start today with your own big idea and create surroundings of a hybrid quality...and live "eclectically" — happily — ever after.

DIAMOND DESIGN—The living room "co-ordinator" in a designer Cathy Erb's eclectic room is a diamond design. It begins in the persian medallion carpeting from the grand noble collection...runs to the window grillwork, into the upholstery, and is found even in the subtle background of the wall-covering.

Here's the answer

Use maple for chopping board

By ANDY LANG

Q. — I intend to make a chopping board for the kitchen in our house. What kind of wood should I use?
A. Maple.

Q. — I will be in the market soon for a radial arm saw. Can you tell me what they cost?

A.—The range is very wide — from about $100 to $400, depending on several factors, including the size of the blade. The simplest way to find out is to go shopping in several different stores.

Q. — There is a white film on about a dozen brick on one side of our house. What is it and how can it be removed?
A. It's called efflorescence. It's a salt deposit which is brought to the surface by water. Scrub the stains with a wire brush.

Sometimes this will do the trick. If it doesn't, scrub with a solution of muriatic acid. This is a strong chemical and must be used with great care and while wearing rubber gloves.

After the stain has been removed, coat the area with a clear silicone sealer.

Since the salt is washed out with water, find out how the water is getting into the masonry. Check for loose mortar especially. It might also be that excessive moisture inside the house is getting behind the exterior walls and causing the trouble.

This is very likely if the wall which is stained is in the area of the kitchen or bathroom.

Q. — Can I install resilient floor tiles over old ones? Do I use the same adhesive as I did when I put down the original tiles seven years ago?

A. — Yes to both questions. It is important that the old tiles be securely attached, since if any of them become loose, the new tiles will be dislodged.

Also, remember that the new installation will raise the level of the floor. You may have to plane or sand off the bottom of one or more doors so they can be closed easily.

Q. — I am putting a new veneer top on a dining room table. After I took off the old split top, I found the surface covered with dried-up old glue. I have scrubbed and scraped it without getting off more than half of it. Any ideas?

A. — Old glue can often be softened with diluted household vinegar. Scrape as soon as the glue begins to soften. If you wait too long, it will harden again.

Training funds available

Post-Korean veterans can get school aid

G.I. Bill training still is available for some veterans who were discharged from military service as much as 12 years ago - but not for long. The Veterans Administration said Post-Korean veterans - those who were discharged between Jan. 31, 1955, and June 1, 1966 - have two more years to take flight training, farm or on-the-job training under the G.I. Bill. But their eligibility for other types of schools and colleges expires May 31, 1974.

IN SPITE of the array of dates, the formula for computing an individual's eligibility is fairly simple, Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson said.

The law gives each veteran eight years to use his G.I. Bill eligibility, and for most, this means until eight years after discharge. But the Post-Korean group had no G.I. Bill eligibility until June 1, 1966, when the current G.I. Bill became effective. Thus, they have until eight years after the date of the law.

The following year (1967), other forms of training were added to the G.I. Bill, so the eight years of eligibility for these benefits starts from the date of the amendment - Aug. 31, 1967.

Post-Korean veterans have been slower in taking advantage of their G.I. education benefits - a 34 per cent rate compared to 42 per cent for veterans discharged after

Area woman dies in collision

A New Boston woman was fatally injured in a two-car crash at the intersection of Rawsonville and Textile roads in Ypsilanti Township.

State police officers of the Ypsilanti State Post said Mrs. Margaret Reid, 61, of 19199 Hannan Rd., who was pronounced dead at Beyer Memorial Hospital, was driving alone in the westbound lane on Huron River Drive which turns into Textile Road.

She allegedly ran a red light and struck a car being driven north by Terry Tacker, 28, of Willis, who was treated for slight injuries, police said. Police still are investigating the accident.

enactment of the current G.I. Bill.

THE 34 PERCENT rate is considered reasonably good, because as Johnson pointed out: "Some of these veterans had been out of service for as long as 11 years before the current G.I. Bill gave them entitlement. By that time, many had found other means of financing their education, or found it impossible to take advantage of the G.I. Bill because of family or other responsibilities."

Age and education level also played roles in preventing many Post-Korean veterans from returning to classrooms.

Average age for the Post-Korean group is six years older than Vietnam era veterans and only two of three had finished high school before entering service, compared to four out of five for Vietnam Era veterans.

Ill children

In developing countries, children under two are found to be ill 30 per cent of the time. UNICEF is working to lower that percentage through its mother and child health projects.

Senior citizens to meet at Edgemont Elementary

The Belleville Senior Citizens Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Edgemont Elementary School, 125 Edgemont St., Belleville.

The evening's entertainment will be bingo and cards as well as celebrating birthdays and anniversaries of club members.

The birthday celebrators for October are: Nora Bird, Helen Essex, Velma Heard, Bernice Jekna, Betty Glinski, Lillian Hay, Clarence Heining, Eleanor Glen, Art

Sullens, Margaret Saunders, Winifred Coleman, Grace Burnell, Dorothy Elliott, Florence Fielder, Cora Horton, Caryol Smith and Clyde Woods.

The anniversaries celebrators for October are: John and Jennie Grass, Clyde and Bedia Woods, Stewart and Bertha Potts and Lloyd and Cecilia Freeman.

The club presented Theodore H. Kuckelman, executive director of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, with a permanent club badge at the club's recent meeting. Jon Hale presented pictures of his nine-day trip down the Colorado River in a rubber raft.

The club wishes to thank the Pinter Florists for their donation of flowers at a recent sale.

The club also announced that a color trip is being planned for Oct. 17 when club members will go to Brooklyn and Napoleon to visit the Hidden Gardens.

Census Bureau to survey area households on school

A sample of households in this area will take part in the federal government's annual survey of school enrollment to be taken the week of Oct. 15-19 by the Bureau of the Census, part of the U.S. Department of Commerce's Social and Economic Statistics Administration.

Robert G. McWilliam, director of the bureau's data collection center in Detroit, said that interviewers will visit homes to obtain information about household members attending school, from nursery school through college, including those taking vocational, technical or business courses.

Results of a 1972 survey showed that 60.1 million persons three to 34 years old were in school. Elementary school enrollment (kindergarten through eighth grade) had declined by about 1.4 million since the fall of 1971 because of a decline in the number of births during the 1960's.

School enrollment questions will be in addition to the ones asked regularly in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

A weird development of our time is the casual manner in which our society talks, plans and deals with money... We think, talk and act in terms that a billion dollars is mere chicken feed... The next time you read about billions of dollars involved in this or that, take a pencil and paper and do a little figuring...

For example, a billion dollars is a thousand million. Can you visualize how much a thousand million dollars actually is? Write it down in figures. Go further than that. Picture yourself as having a billion dollars and wanting to spend a thousand dollars a day - as long as the billion dollars would last. Go ahead. Figure it out. One thousand dollars a day to dispose of a billion dollars. Before you figure it out, make a guess. How many days, months or years would it take?

Prepare yourself for a shocker! Check this arithmetic if you wish. The answer is more than TWENTY SEVEN HUNDRED YEARS! With that fact in mind, can you explain society's nonchalant attitude toward a billion dollars?

NIGHT OF NIGHTMARES — What do you do when your football team can't seem to do anything right? Well, in the case of Belleville's Keith Emerson, whose Tigers lost a crucial Suburban 8 Conference game to Trenton, you sweat it out. Emerson and the Tigers will have another "big one" Friday afternoon when they run up against Edsel Ford at the Dearborn high school's field. — Enterprise Roman photo.

Sports Meridian

Of girls' swimming

By TOM MOORADIAN

Janet M. Verde of Belleville comes on strong for swimming. And she has two good reasons. Her daughters swim in the Van Buren School program.

But Mrs. Verde feels it's "high time girls got newspaper coverage and more support."

"The Van Buren School District is absolutely unbelievable," she writes. "I just can't believe some of the things they are asking us."

"I just received the monthly Newsletter from the school district and it is almost entirely devoted to extolling the sport of swimming. It also chides us for not supporting this sport with the same enthusiasm as we do football, basketball, etc.," she said.

MRS. VERDE pointed out that the Newsletter stated that "...swimming receives little publicity...the majority of high school swim meets are poorly attended..."

"Since I have two daughters on the recently formed girls swim team at the high school I was delighted to see this sport getting its long deserved publicity."

"However, my delight turned to disbelief when I turned to the calendar of events and found not one girls' swim meet was listed. What good is it talking about something but not giving the fans the particulars of where these events are going to be staged," she added.

Though we're not singing, "Thank Heaven for Little Girls," in these parts, it's obvious that girls sports — for better or for worse — are here to stay.

IN THE PAST it was a rare sight indeed to see a high school field girls' teams, let alone compete in league and state competition. Nowadays, the novelty has gone and state meets are there.

State championships for girls are or will be staged in such sports as gymnastics, track & field, golf, tennis, swimming, basketball and skiing.

Yes, girls have come a long way.

It is difficult to believe that Friday will mark the halfway point in the 1973 high school football season. Difficult to believe because some teams as those in the Detroit Public School Leagues have yet to play their first league games.

This may well be the fall that Detroit prep gridders do not have a football season thanks to the Detroit board of education and the union who now have a record school strike on their conscience.

Meanwhile, would you believe that five of the area teams that we cover still have a realistic chance of winning league championships? You say you don't believe it?

Well, here's the count down: Livonia Churchill, the defending Western Six Conference champ is undefeated on the year and had a 13-game winning streak — the longest in the state for a Class A team.

Trenton crushes Belleville

By DALE GOWING

Trenton High's meager passing attack has been the recipient of much criticism of late, but to set the record straight, the Trojans just plain don't need a strong passing game.

At least not when Trenton rushers are penetrating defenses for an average of 40 points per game, which happened to be just shy of the amount mustered by the downriver school in its 44-0 stampeding of Belleville last Friday in what was billed to be a Game of the Week among the two Suburban Eight Conference giants.

Trenton coach Jack Castagnola set out to snuff the charges ridiculing his weak aerial show by electing to go to the sky against Belleville, but those notions ended fast when the Trojan rushers found that they could do almost anything they wanted against the outclassed Tiger defense.

THE RESULT was 307 yards on the ground for the undefeated (3-0) and undisputed Suburban 8 leaders. They completed four of the eight passes they attempted — but those four were big gainers. A total of 110 yards passing gave the Trenton club a grand total of 47 yards. And host Belleville had to

Romulus continues skid

With the unwilling consent of Romulus, Inkster extended its winning streak to four games Friday, the longest football victory string at the high school in a decade.

But, Coach Arnie James and the Vikings paid dearly for the 28-14 nonconference triumph over Coach Jim Stallings' Eagles. The win cost them the services of Al Walker, the defensive quarterback who dislocated his shoulder in the fourth quarter.

"The loss of Walker is bound to cause us some problems," said James whose Vikings will clash with Suburban Athletic Conference leader, Highland Park, on Friday. "We're going to have to make some big adjustments."

STALLINGS, whose hopes for a first victory exploded when Inkster scored twice in the fourth quarter to snap a 14-all deadlock, said: "It was the best game we played this season. We hit well and tackled well, but penalties killed us."

Romulus, an independent, will host Dearborn Heights Robichaud on Friday in a 3 p.m. scheduled game. Both teams are searching for their first win after four setbacks.

Inkster and Romulus exchanged touchdowns in the first quarter, both missing on their first conversion attempts. The Vikings got on the scoreboard first when Walker ran 18-yards into the end zone.

Then, on the ensuing kickoff, Erv Gibson returned the punt 95-yards for the touchdown.

After a scoreless second quarter, Inkster came back in the third stanza to break the 6-all knot thanks to quarterback Oliver Gaston's 15-yard TD pass to Edward Chatmon.

Walker plunged over the line to make good on the conversion, giving the Vikings a 14-6 edge.

Late in that quarter Romulus quarterback Herbie Miller and Gibson combined on a 62-yard pass-run play that gave the Eagles their second TD of the game. Ray Hollis came through with the two-point conversion to tie the game again.

However, Inkster dominated the final 12 minutes as Chatmon snared a 15-yard Gaston touchdown pass to cut the knot again. Walker ran in the conversion. Then, Gaston went on from three yards out on a quarterback sneak for an insurance TD.

"The first half our team was completely flat," said James. "Then two mental mistakes cost us those touchdowns."

OLIVER, in on three of the four TDs, had an outstanding afternoon as he connected on nine of 19 passes for 180 yards and also rushed 55 yards on seven carries. Halfback Michael Andrews amassed 109 yards in 14 carries.

Inkster's Keith Arnold, a tackle, and linebacker Claude Coleman kept the Vikings intact on defense while Walker, Andrews, a cor-monkey wrench in Belleville's title plans, as Coach Keith Emerson's contingent row realizes that somebody else will have to knock off the fourth-ranked Trojans to keep the race close. The Tiger record is now 2-1 in the league, 3-1 overall.

Belleville has its hands full again Friday in an afternoon meeting at Dearborn Edsel Ford, which is tied for second with the Tigers, Plymouth and Allen Park.

"OUR OWN mistakes led to our downfall," acknowledged Emerson. "We made too many mistakes and fumbles and didn't have good execution at all.

"It's awfully hard to play catch-up football, and way too early when we fumbled away the ball on our own 18 to set up Trenton's first touchdown."

"I don't think Trenton is that much better than us as a team, but we gave them too many breaks," he said.

TRENTON'S BOB Czarnecki pierced the Tiger line for 147 yards in 16 carries for a remarkable 9.2 yard average, while five other Trojans collected at least 25 yards each.

CZARNECKI ALSO scored twice on a two-yard burst and an 89-yard kick return.

Belleville kept things close throughout the first half, despite giving up a touchdown in each of the first two quarters. And the Tigers were never really out of it until the opening kickoff of the second half, which Czarnecki ran back 89 yards to begin Belleville's collapse.

"That runback kind of broke their backs," agreed Trenton coach Jack Castagnola. And the score also signaled his use of substitutes. "We were already ahead 22-0 so I put in my second string midway through the third period and left it in the rest of the way," he said.

Until then, Belleville had been starved on the ground, totaling a minus 23 yards in the first half.

TRENTON PUT 20 points on the board in the third quarter and eight more in the fourth. Besides Czarnecki, Trojan touchdowns were scored by Tim Whaley, Bill Christiana, Mike Chrumka and Mike Baker, all on the ground. Christiana's was the longest run from scrimmage, covering 40 yards.

And because Trenton's ground game was so successful, Castagnola elected to

It took two hectic overtimes, but New Boston Huron has its first football victory of the 1973 campaign.

Huron broke a 6-all fourth quarter tie with a third down touchdown pass from quarterback Tim Hinojosa to Ken Smith in the second extra period against Airport, giving Coach Jim Stallings his Chiefs a 12-6 decision.

Earlier, Dave Durham sprinted 68-yards to score in the fourth quarter. However, Airport tied it up late in that quarter after the ensuing kickoff when quarterback Gary VanHouten caught the Huron secondary asleep and connected on a 52-yard pass-run to play with Dave Malone. "It was more a defensive battle than an offensive one," said a pleased Russow after the game. "When you have to play a couple of overtimes to win, it's always hectic."

Huron will run up against Flat Rock Friday night at Flat Rock which is also sporting a 1-2 league won-lost record.

"THEY ARE a solid ball club that excels on defense," said Russow, commenting on Flat Rock's merits. "Fortunately, we have Durham back which will make us a more consistent team offensively."

Durham, a senior halfback, is coming off of an ankle injury that had him sidelined for over two weeks. He rushed for 135 yards in 21 carries to provide the Chiefs with the bulk of their offensive.

Airport had a chance to get on the scoreboard in the first quarter when it worked its way to the Chiefs' five yard line, but a holding penalty against the visitors moved the losers out of scoring range.

HURON'S DEFENSE, spearheaded by Mel Budek, a middle guard who accounted for seven solo tackles, and Mick Sobodash, a linebacker, who had eight, tightened up and did not yield until the final minutes of the game.

Huron got on the scoreboard first on a straight power play with Durham rubbing the line of scrimmage then taking off on the 68-yard jaunt. Hinojosa tried for the point after but his kick missed the upright.

With less than five minutes to go, Airport strung together the next series of plays and at the 52-yard line VanHouten and Malone pulled off the pass play that tied the score. A pass for the two-point conversion failed, setting up the cliff-hanging finale.

NEITHER TEAM moved the ball in the first overtime, then Huron, on a third down pass play broke the deadlock for good. Hinojosa again tried for the conversion and missed.

Airport set up its offense in an attempt to get the equalizer, but on the second play from scrimmage Huron's Jim Pidegon stepped in front of a VanHouten pass and intercepted, ending the game.

Hinojosa made good on five of 11 passing attempts for 48-yards while the Chiefs also picked up 151 yards rushing for a total of 197. Airport amassed 110 yards rushing, 69 passing for 179 total.

Cougars remain unbeaten

The Belleville Cougars junior varsity Little League football team extended its unbeaten string to five games Sunday with a 14-0 victory over the Garden City Tigers, but the varsity and freshmen teams continued their tailspins with defeats.

The varsity lost to Garden City, 8-0, while the frosh bowed to the Tiger freshmen, 7-6. The junior varsity is now 4-0-1, while the varsity is 1-4 and the frosh 0-4-1.

Huron loses 2 key harriers to leg injuries

If New Boston Huron High's cross country team hopes to capture the Huron League championship this season, it will have to do so without two of its top five runners.

Freshman Tim Schuman and junior Eric Louye, Huron's fourth and fifth men, respectively, have bowed out for the rest of the season with foot and knee problems, simply adding to the woes of Coach Mike Matthews.

"We've just had so many injuries, I can't believe it," he sighed. "You get one guy back and another gets hurt."

WITHOUT THE two runners, however, Huron did roll up a narrow victory over league foe Monroe Jefferson last Thursday, 26-29. The Chiefs' aces, Tim Bilerey and Melvin Sheats, finished one-two with Bilerey recording a 16:38 clocking for the three-mile course.

"It was close race all the way in," described Matthews, "because Jefferson runners finished third and fourth behind our two leaders." Huron's Bob Tillotson took fifth, Jefferson recorded sixth and seventh and Huron's Keith Frazier crossed the finish line eighth, as Huron extended its record to 2-1 in the league and 2-3-1 overall.

The Chiefs then traveled to the Mount Clemens Chippewa Valley Invitational Saturday where they ran eleventh in a 14-team field. Bilerey notched the eleventh spot for Matthews' crew. Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher captured the team title.

Huron was slated to host Gibraltar Carlson yesterday and meets Monroe Catholic Central tomorrow in Monroe in another crucial league test.

"If we beat Catholic Central I think we have a shot at third place," forecasted Matthews. "Grosse Ile is favored to walk away with the championship, but if we can come up with a few good dual wins we might finish high when the league meet comes around."

The Huron League meet is Oct. 23 at Grosse Ile, and that and league dual meet results are combined to determine the champion.

MISSILE IN THE NIGHT — Belleville's Lee Stiltner (10) has no problem breaking up this pass intended for fallen Trenton receiver John Dahlquist (65). But that's about all the Tigers could do against the fourth-ranked Class A power who crushed Belleville 44-0 Friday night. — Enterprise Roman photo.

"We had a big lead and didn't want to run up the score on Belleville, so we decided not to pass in the second half, which we had been relatively successful doing in the first half," Castiglione said.

Belleville's only offensive statistic that didn't seem to have a minus sign before it was quarterback Gary Van Buhler's scanty 27 yards rushing — the Tigers' top ballcarrier. Van Buhler also connected on five of 11 passes for 30 yards.

THE TIGERS DIDN'T have much opportunity to assemble scoring drives, mainly because they had the ball for 30 plays less than Trenton. And when they did show some spark, they fumbled. The alert Trenton defense recovered all three Belleville fumbles.

The host Tigers could only convert on four third-down situations while Trenton had 14 first downs. "We just maintained the ball and didn't give in to them," explained Castiglione.

Bruce Ford made a stir early for Belleville defensively when he intercepted a Bill Copado pass in the midst of a steady Trenton drive, and his short runback almost equalled Belleville's rushing totals.

Emerson feels Belleville must beat Edsel Ford to stay alive in the Suburban Eight race.

"EDSEL FORD IS tough," he warned. "They are probably the second best team in the league behind Trenton and will have to beat Trenton for the rest of us to stay in it."

"We absolutely have to beat Ford, and I'd say we have a 50-50 chance of doing it. Our Edsel Ford, 2-1 in the league and 3-1 overall, suffered a double overtime defeat at the hands of Allen Park Friday. The Dearborn school has scored 40 or more points three times this season while totaling no less than 28 points in a single game.

Coach Arnice James has done an excellent job whipping a group of fine athletes into a team. And he's the first to admit that Friday "will tell what we have."

That's when James' boys meet Highland Park, whom the experts say has the horses in the newly-formed Suburban Athletic Conference.

"We're just going over there to play football," says James.

And no one doubts him.

George Lovich and Livonia Franklin have been playing second fiddle to Garden City East and North Farmington in the Northwest Suburban Conference these past two years, but the Patriots apparently can't stand that music anymore.

With four victories to their credit, the Livonians are coming on strong and clear and it sounds like they want the title presently held by East.

But Lovich realizes that there is a team that could force his Patriots back into a secondary role again in the league. And that's North Farmington. These two conference powers won't meet until Oct. 20 and Franklin will host the game.

"We're not going to be caught looking past Thurston this week," said Lovich. "We watched North Farmington and Thurston play and the thing that surprised me was the score by which Farmington won (45-0)."

"We have Thurston Saturday, that comes first," he said.

APPARENTLY Wayne Memorial was caught looking past Riverview last Friday. That's the word from Coach Floyd Carter, who stressed, "his team isn't out of it (the title race) yet."

"I'm certain our boys were looking to the Truman game and not concentrating on Riverview the way we should have," said Carter who saw his seven-game winning streak dissipate.

Truman knocked off Fordson, then the No. 1 Class A team in the state.

"This new league is so balanced that on any given weekend anything can happen," the Zebras coach noted.

You won't get an argument from this corner, Floyd.

Youth organization holds registration for course

High school students may register for the free Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) training course on alcohol which will begin in November, 1973, at the Brightmoor Community Center, the Northeast Guidance Center and the University of Detroit Mandella Center in Detroit as well as Aquinas High School in Southgate and Huron High School in New Boston.

The course will offer an array of experts in lectures, demonstrations and other instructions on the nature and history of alcohol, and implications of use and abuse and alcoholism.

Classes will meet once a week for seven weeks and upon completion of training youth will take on "Action Projects."

THE DEADLINE for registration is Oct. 19. Youths may register by calling the center of their choice.

The telephone numbers: Brightmoor Community

Center, 531-0305; Northeast Guidance Center, 886-3566; U-D Mandella Center, 862-4194; Aquinas High School, 283-4190; and Huron High School, 941-9590.

Students who successfully complete the course will receive certificates of achievement, they also will qualify for membership on the Youth Council on Alcohol, a highly praised group of young people who seek to impart to their peers a balanced understanding of the uses and abuses of alcohol.

The council, which was formed two years ago, has been hailed as a movement of great vision and promise in combatting chronic alcoholism.

"WE TRY TO FIGHT the myths of alcohol with the truth," said Nadia Ponichter, CYO staffer who directs the program. "We want to educate young people on this much misunderstood subject so that they, in turn, can spread the word to other youths."

Since the inception of this training course two years ago, 65 high school students have completed the course and joined the youth council. They have done an outstanding job of promoting a better understanding of alcohol and alcoholism.

Easter Seal Society to hold meet

The Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Michigan will celebrate its 52nd year of service to the handicapped at its annual state convention at the Ramada Inn in Romulus, Oct. 18 to 20.

The Easter Seal Society is the oldest and largest voluntary health organization serving the handicapped in the State of Michigan. It has an active organization in every county. A combined total of approximately 10,000 persons receive services each year. Starting Oct. 18 and continuing through to noon, Oct. 20, the program — in addition to taking care of the business of the society at a meeting of the state board of directors and the state house of delegates — will include meetings and seminars on fund raising, plans for the future and involvement of our youth.

HIGHLIGHTING the three day session Oct. 19 will be the annual banquet at which time recognition awards will be made to a number of volunteers whose services have been outstanding and distinguished.

The Wayne County Easter Seal Society will serve as hosts for the convention.

The Honorable John B. Swainson, Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of Michigan and Honorary State Easter Seal Campaign Chairman will serve as master of ceremonies.

Head Start has openings

The children of the Romulus School District Head Start Program had their first day of classes this week. Openings still are available in the program.

According to Lorena Barton, director of federal and state programs for the Romulus Community Schools, a limited number of openings are available in the program, which helps a child become acquainted with school before his kindergarten years.

To qualify, a child must be four-years-old by Dec. 1, must be from the Beverly, Harrison, Gardenier or Romulus elementary school attendance areas or must be from a family which meets certain income restrictions.

Featured speaker for the evening will be Bob Talbert, Columnist for the Detroit Free Press. In his career as a newspaper man, Talbert has achieved recognition for his column which is syndicated by the Knight Wire Service.

The Ramada Inn is located near Merriman Road off I-94 and near the entrance to Detroit Metropolitan Airport. THERE WILL be a reception at 6 p.m. followed by the banquet at 7 p.m. Volunteers and friends of the Society as well as the public are invited to attend.

Reservations for the dinner as well as information relative to the entire convention can be obtained by contacting any of the local Easter Seal Societies in the State or by writing or calling direct the state office at 10601 Puritan, Detroit 48238. The telephone number is 341-1721.

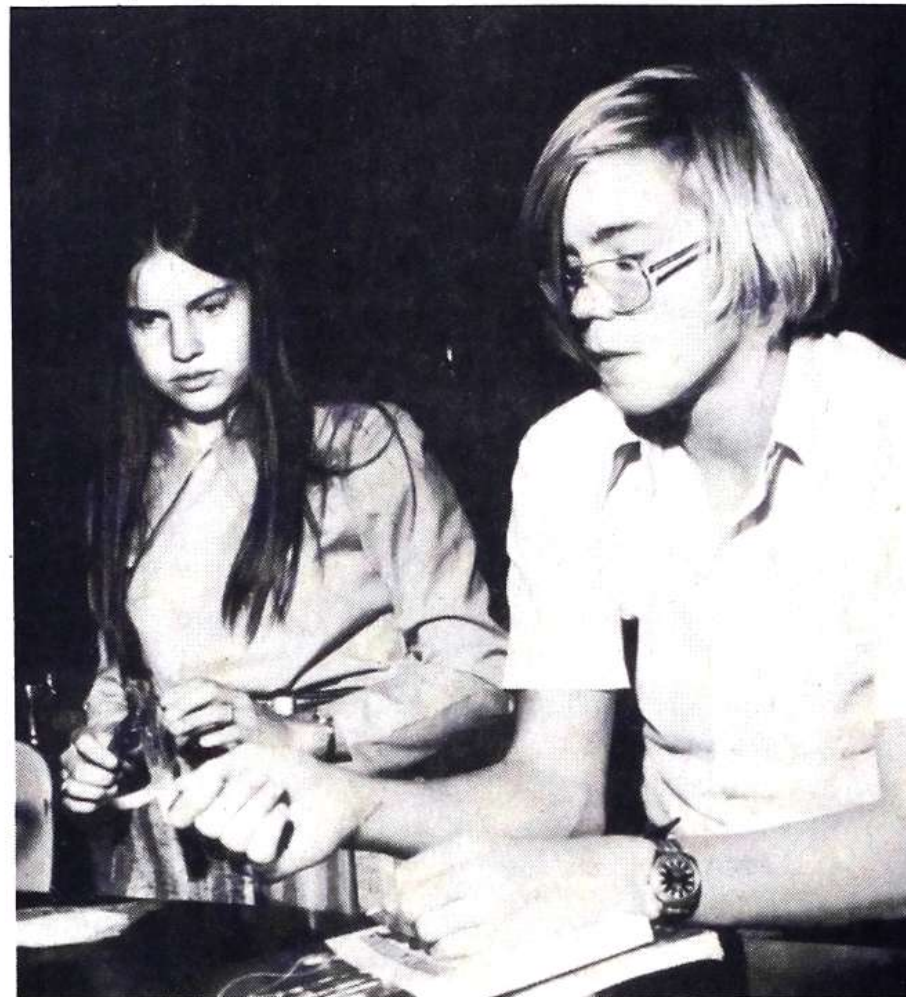

Information on the program can be obtained by calling Miss Burton at 941-1600.

Last week, 36 parents met with Miss Burton and Iva Mack, one of the Romulus preschool family life consultants, to receive an explanation of the program, and to decide whether they'd participate in the pre-school education programs in the district.

Several volunteered to become teaching assistants in the program, but other volunteers are needed to help in the classrooms, the lunch rooms, on the Community Resources Committee, in the continuing adult education program and on the pre-school program's policy committee.
